St. Ethelreda (Audry) June 23

Audrey was the daughter of a holy king. Her three sisters also became saints. Sexburga, Ethelburga and Withburga. Audra was born in Suffolk. She married Prince Tombert but she remained a virgin, for they lived in perpetual continence. After three years, her husband died and Audra lived a secluded life of solitude for five years. She consented to marry King Egried of Northumberland, again more like a sister than a wife. After 12 years of marriage, with the King's consent, she entered religious life in a monastery. In 672, she returned to the Isle of Eluy, founded a monastery and lived in great austerity and perfection. Sufferings were her delight and thanked God when in her last sickness, she had much to suffer. She died June 23 679.
